

"It's clear that organizers Jodi Bon Jodi and Max Voltage's many years of organizing and performing queer events are indelible from both their passion and their art."

Pants-Off Productions was founded in Portland, Oregon in October, 2008 by Max Voltage & Jodi Bon Jodi. While on a road-trip home from the International Drag King-Community Extravaganza (IDKE) in Vancouver, Canada, Max & Jodi visioned a Circus-Themed night of vaudevillian genderf*ck, and thus Freakshow-a-Go-Go came into being, and was Pants-Off Productions' inaugural project, happening in PDX in May 2008. Freakshow-a-Go-Go brought together over 50 performers from all over the country including performers from Chicago, San Francisco, Santa Fe and Austin as well as local performers. FAGG has since gone on to become an annual, traveling show, happening in Austin, TX in May 2009 and slated for Oakland, CA next Spring.

Post-Freakshow, Pants-Off Productions was catalyzed by the Fertile Grounds Festivale of New-Works, and as part of that, produced Kick/Ball/Change, a PDX Dance Showcase. Kick/Ball/Change was such a success that POP decided to expand it to become a three-part series. The third and final Kick/Ball/Change happened Sunday, August 9th at the Someday Lounge. A core component of Kick/Ball/Change is PO Productions' DIY dance company Untrained, I, which continues to grow exponentially and has begun booking tons performances around town including the GenderBender Pride show, Dirty Queer, and benefits for Siren Nation & Gender(Free) for all. Pants Off Production also produced Homo's Got Talent Dance-Off Competition. PO's newest project is Homomomentum, and monthly queer Cabaret.
